

Reflections on the project:

Weronika Lewandowska:

The aim of the project is to show how holidays are important to all of us. Poles and Jews have different cultures and holidays but everybody appreciates time spent together with their family.

Łucja Rusek:

We really want to learn about Jewish culture and are happy to cooperate and make friends with the Israeli students.

Weronika Wilkoszewska:

I think the main aim of this project is to show that even if our holidays are different they still give us hope in the same way. I learned so much about Jewish culture and I'm able to understand it better now. I had a lot of fun painting and drawing illustrations for the project.

Oliwier Sadło:

Our project is a great idea because of the possibility to educate each other about their national culture and traditions. We got new friends and a new wave of hope.

Paulina Kurzacz:

Thanks to the project Windows Of Hope I got to know a different culture. Not only did we learn about Israeli holidays but also had a chance to talk to and cooperate with people of different cultural background. Another positive aspect is improving our English language abilities.

Martyna Bartnik:

Our goal is to show that celebrating holidays and national traditions with family and friends can inspire and gives hope even in difficult times.

Nadia Ledwoń:

The topic we chose gives us room for various reflections. Holiday time recharges our batteries, it's a good vibe and fills us with positive emotions. After all, holiday is a time when there is no such thing as hatred. We all unite and forget about differences.

Natalia Kaniowska:

Our project Celebrating Life - Holidays Giving Hope shows chosen holidays in Israel and Poland. During holidays people are happy, kind, full of life, and hope for a better tomorrow. This project taught me to cooperate with others, be tolerant of differences, my artistic and language abilities improved. I really enjoyed the time spent with Israeli students.
